

Hello Everyone,
All is well. We have just been traveling so far, but everything was uneventful. Didn't lose any bags, no one got sick, etc. Everyone is crashing today and getting used to the heat. Tomorrow we go into Malek. We will have a combined team of twenty people, seven from our team, three journeymen and three journey women and seven translators. Our daily schedule is as follows:

Early morning—breakfast and training (T4T) for the team.
I'll be leading.

Mid-morning—Ethnographic (worldview) research.
Interviews of local Dlnkas as to their worldview.

Late afternoon/evening- CBS with the villagers.

The roads are already bad, so we will probably just be going on one trip up to Me'en, Amook and Aliet.

If you could forward this info to where it needs to go for prayer support, I'd appreciate it.

Blessings,
Tim
